

Arctic Charr from Iceland

Sustainably Farm-Raised

Aquanor Arctic Charr is a unique strain of saltwater charr sustainably farm-raised in Iceland. Although often compared to salmon and trout, Aquanor Icelandic Arctic Charr has a distinct light, sweet flavor and firm pink flesh that sets it apart from all other salmonids on the market. This flavorful fish is nutrient-rich and an excellent source of heart-healthy Omega-3 fatty acids. A superior quality sustainable seafood option available fresh year-round, Aquanor Icelandic Arctic Charr is Simply the Finest!

Aquanor Farm-Raised Arctic Charr from Iceland

Available Fresh Whole and Filleted

In 1990, Aquanor Marketing, Inc., together with the leading producers of arctic charr in Iceland, introduced Icelandic arctic charr to the U.S. market under the Aquanor brand. Today, Aquanor is the largest global importer of arctic charr and Aquanor Arctic Charr is widely recognized as a "Best Choice" seafood option for the health and taste conscious consumer.*

Aquanor Icelandic Arctic Charr are sustainably farm-raised in closed system above ground tanks. Using a blend of pure Icelandic spring water, seawater, and geothermal water, these fish are grown in superb conditions mirroring that of their natural environment. Carefully monitored throughout all stages of growth and production, Aquanor Icelandic Arctic Charr is superior in taste, coloring, texture, and overall quality to all other charr on the market.
